Rental Screening Criteria

In Order To Rent You Must Supply:

- A completed rental application
- Government identification
- Copy of recent pay stubs -Credit Check Charge
- $25 per person 18 years old and over
- Deposit & first month rent must be in cashiers check or money order

Criterion 1: INCOME

You must have verifiable and legal income that is two and a half times the amount of the rent. In lieu of pay-stubs: tax return, bank statement, W2's and assistance award letters may be used for verification. If using assets as proof of income, savings should be at least 10 times rent amount.

Criterion 2: CREDIT

This community uses a statistically sound credit scoring system to evaluate your consumer credit report. Credit scoring is based on real data and statistics so all applications are treated objectively. Your credit report contains information about you and your credit experience including your bill-paying history, the number and type of accounts you have, late payments, collection actions, outstanding debt, rental history, criminal history and the age of your accounts.

Based on your credit score and related data source information, your application will be either accepted, low acceptance, conditional acceptance or be declined. If your application is denied, low accepted or accepted with conditions, you will be given the name, address and telephone number of the consumer reporting agencies, which provided your consumer information to us.

- If FICO score is 620 or higher and all other criteria are approved then this is an accept score.
- If FICO score is 580 to 619 but all other criteria are approved, this would be considered accept with conditions and must have a supervisors approval. In this case a higher security deposit will be required.

Co-signer/Guarantors are accepted for the disabled. At some communities, co-signers/guarantors are accepted per community policies. When a co-signer/guarantor is accepted, the co-signer/guarantor must apply and be qualified under the criteria for guarantors. Guarantors and co-signers have financial responsibility under the lease and may not be used in lieu of an additional deposit.

Criterion 3: RENTAL/MORTGAGE PAYMENT HISTORY

The rental/mortgage payment history of the past two (2) years will be reviewed for all household members age 18 and over. There may be no late payments or NSF's in the past six months; there may be no more than three late payments or three NSF's in the past two (2) years. If there is no rental/mortgage history, the apartment can be rented if security deposit paid is equal to one (1) months rent.

Rental payment history is also reviewed in RentBureau provided by Experian.

Criterion 4: RESIDENCE HISTORY

All household members age eighteen (18) and over must have satisfactory residence history; there may not be any instances of noncompliance with the terms and conditions of a rental agreement/lease in the past two (2) years.

Criterion 5: OCCUPANCY REQUIREMENTS

If a minor is brought into household during tenancy that exceeds occupancy, you may stay through the lease term and no longer than 4 months when tenancy is month to month.

Rental Scoring & Your Rental Application

Many landlords rely upon “Rental Scores” to estimate the relative financial risk of leasing an apartment to you. In addition to estimating risk, rental scores are an objective and consistent way of reviewing relevant applicant information, and help speed the application approval process.

How is my rental score determined?

Rental scoring systems assign points to certain factors identified as having a statistical correlation to future financial lease performance. Your rental score results from a mathematical analysis of information found in your credit report, application, and previous rental history. Such information may include your bill-paying history, the number and type of accounts you have, collection actions, outstanding debt, income, and the number of inquiries in your consumer report. The final number, or rental score, represents an estimated level of risk as compared to the performance of other consumers in a range of scores.

Because your rental score is based upon real data and statistics, it is more reliable than subjective methods of evaluating your information. Rental scoring treats all applicants more consistently and impartially. Additionally, your rental score never uses certain characteristics like—race, color, sex, familial status, handicap, national origin, or religion—as factors.

How is my rental score used?

Rental decisions are based upon how much risk a landlord is prepared to accept. Each landlord, therefore, sets the minimum score required for approval of an application. It is possible for your rental score to yield different results depending on where you apply. Your rental score might mean a denial at one property, while the same score might be approved at another. It all depends upon the risk a landlord is prepared to accept.

What can I do to improve my rental score?

Your rental score may change if the underlying information is based upon changes. The total improvement, however, generally depends on how that factor relates to other factors considered by the scoring system. Nevertheless, to improve your rental score, concentrate on paying your bills on time, paying down outstanding balances, and not taking on new debt. Your chances of approval should also improve if you apply for an apartment with lower monthly rent.

Where can I have my score explained?

Should your application be denied based upon your rental score, you can learn which factors most negatively influenced your score by contacting the consumer reporting agency listed below. Additionally, you can obtain a free copy of your consumer report, if you make the request to the consumer reporting agency within 60 days of denial.
