A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under the FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment – or to take another adverse action against you – must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your “file disclosure”). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
 - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
 - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
 - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
 - you are on public assistance;
 - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.
- In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.
- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need -- usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.
- You may limit “prescreened” offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited “prescreened” offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-5-OPTOUT (1-888-567-8688).
- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:

CALIFORNIA SUMMARY OF CONSUMER RIGHTS CALIFORNIA CIVIL CODE §1785.15(f)

The following are your rights as a consumer in regard to consumer credit reports in the following form: “You have a right to obtain a copy of your credit file from a consumer credit reporting agency. You may be charged a reasonable fee not exceeding eight dollars ($8). There is no fee, however, if you have been turned down for credit, employment, insurance, or a rental dwelling because of information in your credit report within the preceding 60 days. The consumer credit reporting agency must provide someone to help you interpret the information in your credit file.

You have a right to dispute inaccurate information by contacting the consumer credit reporting agency directly. However, neither you nor any credit repair company or credit service organization has the right to have accurate, current, and verifiable information removed from your credit report. Under the Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, the consumer credit reporting agency must remove accurate, negative information from your report only if it is over seven years old. Bankruptcy information can be reported for 10 years.

If you have notified a consumer credit reporting agency in writing that you dispute the accuracy of information in your file, the consumer credit reporting agency must then, within 30 business days, reinvestigate and modify or remove inaccurate information. The consumer credit reporting agency may not charge a fee for this service. Any pertinent information and copies of all documents you have concerning an error should be given to the consumer credit reporting agency.

If reinvestigation does not resolve the dispute to your satisfaction, you may send a brief statement to the consumer credit reporting agency to keep in your file, explaining why you think the record is inaccurate. The consumer credit reporting agency must include your statement about disputed information in a report it issues about you.

You have a right to receive a record of all inquiries relating to a credit transaction initiated in 12 months preceding your request. This record shall include the recipients of any consumer credit report. 2 You may request in writing that the information contained in your file not be provided to a third party for marketing purposes.

You have a right to place a “security alert” in your credit report, which will warn anyone who receives information in your credit report that your identity may have been used without your consent. Recipients of your credit report are required to take reasonable steps, including contacting you at the telephone number you may provide with your security alert, to verify your identity prior to lending money, extending credit, or completing the purchase, lease, or rental of goods or services. The security alert may prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that taking advantage of this right may delay or interfere with the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or cellular phone or other new account, including an extension of credit at point of sale. If you place a security alert on your credit report, you have a right to obtain a free copy of your credit report at the time the 90-day security alert period expires. A security alert may be requested by calling the following toll-free telephone numbers: Equifax 1-800-525-6285; Experian 1-800-397- 3742; TransUnion 1-800-680-7289. California consumers also have the right to obtain a “security freeze.”

You have a right to place a “security freeze” on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer credit reporting agency from releasing any information in your credit report without your express authorization. A security freeze must be requested in writing by mail. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or cellular phone or other new account, including an extension of credit at point of sale. When you place a security freeze on your credit report, you will be provided a personal identification number or password to use if you choose to remove the freeze on your credit report or authorize the release of your credit report for a specific party or period of time after the freeze is in place. To 3 provide that authorization you must contact the consumer credit reporting agency and provide all of the following:

- (1) The personal identification number or password.
- (2) Proper identification to verify your identity.
- (3) The proper information regarding the third party who is to receive the credit report or the period of time for which the report shall be available to users of the credit report.

A consumer credit reporting agency must authorize the release of your credit report no later than three business days after receiving the above information.

A security freeze does not apply when you have an existing account and a copy of your report is requested by your existing creditor or its agents or affiliates for certain types of account review, collections, fraud control, or similar activities.

If you are actively seeking credit, you should understand that the procedures involved in lifting a security freeze may slow your application for credit. You should plan ahead and lift a freeze, either completely if you are shopping around, or specifically for a certain creditor, before applying for new credit.

A consumer credit reporting agency may not charge a fee to a consumer for placing or removing a security freeze if the consumer is a victim of identity theft and submits a copy of a valid police report or valid Department of Motor Vehicles investigative report. A person 65 years of age or older with proper identification may be charged a fee of no more than $5 for placing, lifting or removing a security freeze. All other consumers may be charged a fee of no more than $10 for each of these steps.

You have a right to bring civil action against anyone, including a consumer credit reporting agency, who improperly obtains access to a file, knowingly or willfully misuses file data, or fails to correct inaccurate file data.

If you are a victim of identity theft and provide to a consumer credit reporting agency a copy of a valid police report or a valid investigative report made by a Department of Motor Vehicles investigator with peace officer status describing your circumstances, the following shall apply:

(1) You have a right to have any information you list on the report as allegedly fraudulent promptly blocked so that the information cannot be reported. The information will be unblocked only if (A) the information you provide is a material misrepresentation of the facts, (B) you agree that the information is blocked in error, or (C) you knowingly obtained possession of goods, services, or moneys as a result of the blocked transactions. If blocked information is unblocked, you will be promptly notified.

(2) You have a right to receive, free of charge and upon request, one copy of your credit report each month for up to 12 consecutive months."

LOUISIANA APPLICANTS OR RESIDENTS ONLY:

You have the right to be given notice by landlords of the application fee(s). You have the right to be notified if credit scores, employment history, criminal history, or eviction records are considered on your application. You have the right to submit a statement to landlords explaining, in 200 words or less, if you have experienced financial hardship because of a state or federally declared disaster or emergency and how the hardship has impacted your credit, employment, or rental history. You also have the right to be given notice on if the statement of financial hardship is required to reference the COVID-19 pandemic and hurricanes.

NEW YORK AND MAINE APPLICANTS OR RESIDENTS ONLY:

You have the right to inspect and receive a copy of any investigative consumer report requested by an agent of a rental property you have applied for by directly contacting the consumer reporting agency that provided the report.

WASHINGTON STATE APPLICANTS OR RESIDENTS ONLY:

The rental property agent does not accept a "comprehensive reusable tenant screening report" and uses an outside screening company to conduct a credit, rental and criminal background check. The screening cost was indicated prior to purchasing the consumer report before being provided with this application. You have the right to obtain a free copy of the report and information on how to file a dispute by contacting CICReports. The rental property agent's criteria for denial should be requested from the agent.

NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE RESIDENTS OF FRESNO'S NON-SMOKING ORDINANCE

Notice of Applicability of Ordinance Prohibiting Smoking In and Around Multiunit Rental Properties. As required by Section 10-2004(b) of the Fresno Municipal Code, prospective residents are hereby notified that this rental property is subject to Article XX of Chapter 10 of the Fresno Municipal Code (hereinafter "Ordinance"), which prohibits smoking in and around multiunit rental properties.

City of Fresno Advisory Regarding Ordinance. The following advisory regarding the Ordinance was prepared by the City of Fresno:

"As of January 1, 2022, smoking is prohibited in all units, common areas, and outdoor areas, except for specifically designated smoking areas."

On October 14, 2021, the Fresno City Council passed Ordinance 2021-045 prohibiting smoking in all multi-unit rental properties in Fresno (Ordinance). The Ordinance will go into effect on January 1, 2022.

According to section 10-2004(a)-(b) of the Ordinance, all existing tenants must receive a written notice of the Ordinance no later than January 1, 2022. All new leases initiated after January 1, 2022, will include non-smoking provisions. Please note the new law prohibits smoking in all units and common areas, excluding any exclusive use outdoor areas, regardless of whether it is included in the lease, and violators of the law may be subject to a fine.

Under the smoke-free ordinance, "Multi-unit residence" means residential property containing two or more rental units where the majority of the units share at least one common wall with an adjacent unit. "Smoking" means inhaling, exhaling, or burning any tobacco, nicotine, or marijuana, or plant product, whether natural or synthetic, intended for inhalation, or using an "electronic smoking device." "Exclusive Use Outdoor Area" means an area accessible only by the occupant of a unit, such as a private balcony, deck, porch, or patio. For additional provisions, see attached Ordinance.

The U.S. Surgeon General's find that there is no safe level of exposure to secondhand smoke and the California Air Resources Board's decision to classify secondhand smoke as a toxic air contaminant has prompted jurisdictions across the state and country to reduce multi-unit residents' exposure to secondhand smoke."

More Restrictive Smoking Policy in Rental/Lease Agreement Controls. The Ordinance does not affect or prohibit the implementation or enforcement a more restrictive smoking policy than set forth in the Ordinance. Therefore, you are notified that the landlord may have a stricter non-smoking policy than the Ordinance requires, and if so, the stricter non-smoking policy controls.
